

I am writting to voice my concerns about the use of cell phones on aircraft. I have been working as a flight attendant for six years and do not feel that allowing passengers to use cell phones in flight is a good idea. It is difficult enough to deal with oversized baggage and seats that recline too far back invading other peoples space in cramped quarters, no less trying to get them off their cell phones in order to hear our safety demonstration. Most passengers are already disgruntled by the time they get on the airplane after long security lines and the numerous delays that they encounter. I feel the use of phones in flight would only lead to more frustration for passengers, as well as the working crew members, and incite more incidents of "air-rage". Please help us keep air travel safe and as comfortable as possible by NOT allowing this rule to pass. Thank You
